THE FULL TEXT OF GERMANY'S REPLY

Feeling of Disappointment Among Officials Which the Opening Sentences of the Note Created Was Later On Leavened By the Text of the New Orders to German Submarine Commanders—Stress Is Laid Upon Great Britain's Violation of International Law—Refusal to Abandon Submarine Warfare.

Berlin, May 5.—(By Associated Press Wireless)—Following is the text of the German Government's note in reply to the American note on submarine warfare delivered on Thursday day by Gotlieb von Jagow to Ambassador Gerard.

"The undersigned on behalf of the Imperial German Government has the honor to present to his Excellency the Ambassador of the United States, Mr. James W. Gerard, the following reply to the note of April 20, regarding the conduct of German submarine warfare.

"The German government handed over to the proper naval authorities for investigation the evidence concerning the Sussex as compiled by the government of the United States.

"Judging by the result of that the investigation has hitherto yielded, the German government is alive to the possibility that the ship mentioned in the note of April 1st as having been torpedoed by a German submarine is actually identical with the Sussex.

"The German government begs to reserve further comment on the matter until certain points are ascertained, which are of decisive importance for establishing the facts of the case. Should it turn out that the commander was wrong in assuming the vessel to be a man-of-war, the German government will not fail to draw the consequence resulting therefrom. In connection with the case of the Sussex the Government of the United States made a series of statements, the gist of which is the assertion that the incident is to be considered but one instance of a deliberate method of indiscriminate destruction of vessels of all sorts, nationalities and destination by German submarines.

"The German government must emphatically repudiate the assertion. The German government, however, thinks it of little avail to enter into details in the present stage of affairs, more particularly as the Government of the United States omitted to substantiate the assertion by reference to concrete facts.

"The German Government will only state that it has only imposed far reaching restraint upon the use of the submarine weapon, solely in consideration of neutral interests, in spite of the fact that these restrictions are necessarily of advantage to Germany's enemies.

"No such consideration has ever been shown neutrals by Great Britain and her allies. The German submarine forces have had in fact orders to conduct the submarine warfare in accordance with the general principles of visit and search.

And the destruction of German vessels recognized by international law, the sole exception of against enemy trade carried on enemy freight ships encountered in the war zone surrounding Great Britain.

"With regard to these no assurances has ever been given to the Government of the United States. No such assurances are contained in the declaration of February 8th, 1916. The German government cannot admit any doubt that these orders were given or executed in good faith. Others actually occurred. They can in no kind of warfare be avoided altogether.

"Allowances must be made in the conduct of naval warfare against an enemy resorting to all kinds of rules whether permissible or illicit.

"But apart from the possibility of errors, naval warfare, just like warfare on land, implies unavoidable danger for neutral persons and goods entering the fighting zone.

"Even in cases where the naval action is confined to ordinary form of cruiser warfare neutral persons and goods repeatedly come to grief. The German government has repeatedly and explicitly pointed out the danger from mines that

CABINET MEETS

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Washington, May 5.—President Wilson and the Cabinet went carefully over the German note as transmitted in news dispatches from Berlin.

A first feeling that it was unsatisfactory was somewhat leavened by the text of the new orders to submarine commanders, although it was foreseen that the reference to immunity for "merchant ships recognized by international law" might admit of some dispute of interpretation.

So much depends upon words and their shades of meaning involved in translation from German to English that no decision can be attempted until the official text is in the President's hands.

Two views were current in official circles. One was that Germany has declared her intention of abandoning her "present methods of submarine warfare," as demanded by the President, and that the American government might have to wait to see whether the abandonment will be effected.

The other was that the United States, having already attempted to have Great Britain give up its interference with neutral commerce, and having told Germany that it cannot discuss with her its negotiations with Great Britain, has no course but to break diplomatic relations with Germany.

While the general tone of the German note created an unfavorable impression, officials took the position that the language was immaterial if the guarantees were real.

Germany's declaration that she has issued new orders to submarine commanders not to attack without warning "merchant vessels recognized by international law" was considered the chief point.

The German view of merchant vessels, as defined in its declaration of February 8th, of its purpose to sink armed ships without warning, and the American view, as defined in the armed ship memorandum made public recently, differ in several respects.

WASHINGTON BELIEVES NOTE SATISFACTORY

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Washington, May 5.—While final decision on the attitude of the American government waits on the official text, some Cabinet members indicated today that the German assurances would probably be accepted, and that diplomatic relations would not be broken unless the order to submarine commanders were violated and American lives endangered.

At the State Department after the Cabinet meeting, it was stated that no hasty action would be taken on the German note, and that, in view of its length and the necessity of digesting it carefully, it was "improbable" that any decision would be reached before next week.

AND IT WAS ON A PHONOGRAPH, TOO!

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Cleveland, O., May 5.—This story may sound like a nature fake but the Cleveland police swear it isn't. A Cleveland horse has an ear for music, with a preference for ragtime, according to the story being told by the police.

This particular horse was jogging contentedly along when he heard the notes of a popular song from a phonograph in a downtown store.

Mr. Horse made a dash for the store doorway, dragging an express wagon after him. The wagon became wedged in the door, and the animal, unmindful of the screams of women and shouts of clerks, set his ears forward and listened to the song, allowing himself to be led away by Joseph Davis, the driver, only when the phonograph had been shut off.

Without Health Man Can Not Expect to Be Contented.

When a man who loves life throws out his chest, pulls his cigar from between smiling lips, and says, "I feel great—I can eat anything," he has struck the keynote of content and is envied by his fellows.

But when that same man, only a short time before, is all rundown, nervous, and can't trust his stomach to accept even the plainest fare, and then comes back into his own, he is so happy that he wants to make life better for the "other fellows" who suffer as he once did.

It is just this feeling that has prompted many thousands of men and women throughout the United States to tell of the benefits they have derived from Tanlac, the great reconstructive tonic, invigorant, appetizer and rebuilding of torn down tissues. Tanlac appeals to the best people everywhere, nowhere in the history of proprietary medicines has there been found a preparation that has equalled Tanlac's record for instant popularity. Although this now famous Master Medicine has been on the market only a trifle over a year two millions of bottles have already been sold. Tanlac's success is based entirely upon merit.

In every community there are a legion of nervous, rundown men and women. Not really sick, perhaps, but affected with a nervous debilitated condition, so that they imagine countless things are wrong with them. They have frequent headaches are sluggish in mind and in body, and they haven't enough real energy to make them self-reliant in even the little things of life.

They need something that contains the right nerve food, tonic, invigorator and appetizer which will awaken their sleeping energies. They also need something to speed up their assimilation to a normal state, something to bring back old vitality self-reliance and a cheery view of life.

Tanlac will meet these needs. It has proven beneficial in cases of stomach, kidney and liver ills, which are the base of these common disorders. It fortifies one to better encounter fatigue, exposure and the daily grind of life.

As the proof of the pudding is in the eating, so is the proof of Tanlac in the taking.

Tanlac is being especially introduced in Washington C. H. at the Blackmer Tanquary Drug Store where the Tanlac Man daily explains its merits and the benefits that may be expected from its use.

Tanlac may be obtained in the following nearby towns, Sabina, J. J. Spurgeon; Wilmington, Harry Christopher; Jeffersonville, J. B. Davis; Jamestown, W. F. Harper; Greenfield, Harry Christopher; Bainbridge, A. W. Fetter; Anderson, C. A. Graves; Chillicothe, Muskrat Pharmacy; Leesburg, Chas. W. Feller; New Vienna, W. C. Higley; Austin, William M. GERMANY'S REPLY TO THE U.S.

have led to the loss of numerous ships. The German government has made several proposals to the Government of the United States in order to reduce to a minimum for American travelers and goods, the inherent danger of naval warfare.

"Unfortunately the government of the United States decided not to accept the proposals. Had it accepted the Government of the United States would have been instrumental in preventing the greater part of the accidents that American citizens have met with in the meantime.

"The German government still stands by its offer to come to an agreement along these lines. As the German government repeatedly declared it cannot dispense with the use of the submarine weapon in the conduct of warfare against enemy

"The German government, however, has now decided to make a further concession adapting methods of submarine war to the interest of neutrals. In reaching this decision the German government is actuated by considerations which are above the level of the disputed question. The German government attaches no less importance to the sacred principles of humanity than the government of the United States. It again fully takes into account that

"The German people know that the government of the United States has the power to confine the war to armed forces of the belligerent countries in the interest of humanity and maintenance of international law. The government of the United States would have been certain of attaining this end had it been determined to insist against Great Britain on the incontrovertible rights to freedom of the seas. But as matters stand the German people are under the impression that the Government of the United States while demanding that Germany, struggling for existence, shall restrain the use of an effective weapon, and while making compliance with the demands, a condition for maintenance of relations with Germany confines itself to protest against illegal methods adopted by Germany's enemies.

"Moreover the German people know to what considerable extent its enemies are supplied with all kinds of war material from the United States.

"It will therefore be understood that the appeal made by the government of the United States to the sentiment of humanity and principles of international law, cannot under the circumstances, meet the same hearty response from the German people which such an appeal otherwise always is certain to find here. If the German government, nevertheless, is resolved to go to the utmost limit of concessions, it has been guided not alone by the friendship connecting the two great nations for over 100 years, but also by the thought of the great doom which threatens the entire civilized world, should the cruel and sanguinary war be extended and prolonged.

"The German Government, conscious of Germany's strength, twice within the last few months announced before the world its readiness to make peace on a basis safeguarding Germany's vital interests, thus indicating that it is not Germany's fault if peace is still withheld from the nations of Europe.

"The German Government feels all the more justified in declaring that responsibility could not be borne before the forum of mankind and in history if, after twenty-one months of the war's duration, the submarine question, under discussion between the German Government and the Government of the United States, were to take a turn seriously threatening maintenance of peace between the two nations.

"As far as lies with the German Government, it wishes to prevent things from taking such a course.

"The German Government, moreover, is prepared to do its utmost to confine operations of the war, for the rest of its duration, to the fighting forces of the belligerents; thereby also insuring freedom of the seas, a principle upon which the German Government believes, now as before, that it is in agreement with the Government of the United States.

"The German Government, guided by this idea, notifies the Government of the United States that German naval forces have received the following order.

"In accordance with the general principles of visit and search, and the destruction of merchant vessels fails to understand this discrimination, all the more as it has repeatedly and explicitly declared itself ready to use the submarine weapon in strict conformity with the rules of international law as recognized before the outbreak of the war, if Great Britain likewise was ready to adopt the conduct of warfare to these rules.

"Several attempts made by the Government of the United States to prevail upon the British government to act accordingly, failed because of flat refusal on the part of the British government.

"Moreover Great Britain again and again has violated international law, surpassing all bounds in outraging neutral rights. The latest measure adopted by Great Britain, declaring German bunker coal contraband and establishing conditions under which England's bunker coal is alone supplied to neutrals, is nothing but an unheard-of attempt by way of exaction to force neutral tonnage into the service of their trade war.

"The German people know that both governments for many years co-operated in developing international law in conformity with these principles the ultimate object of which has always been to confine warfare on sea and land to armed forces of belligerents and safeguard as far as possible noncombatants against the horrors of war.

"But although these considerations are of notable weight, they alone would not under present circumstances, have determined the attitude of the German government. In answer to the appeal by the government of the United States on behalf of the sacred principles of humanity and international law the German government must repeat once more with all emphasis that it was not the German government, but the British government which ignored accepted rules of international law and extended this terrible war to the lives and property of noncombatants, having no regard whatever for the interests and rights of neutrals and noncombatants that through this method of warfare have been severely injured.

"In self defense against the illegal conduct of British warfare, while fighting a bitter struggle for national existence, Germany had to resort to the hard but effective weapon of submarine warfare.

"As matters stand the German government cannot but reiterate regret that the sentiments of humanity which the Government of the United States extends with such fervor to the unhappy victims of submarine warfare, are not extended with the same warmth of feeling to many millions of women and children, who, according to the avowed intention of the British Government, shall be starved, and, who, by sufferings, shall force the victorious armies of the Central Powers into ignominious capitulation.

"The German government in agreement with the German people

Watch Your Soiled Clothes

It Is More Sanitary To Have Your Family Wash Done
At The LARRIMER LAUNDRY Than To Do It At Home

WHEN YOU WASH soiled clothes in your home the water you use is rarely over 100 degrees Fahrenheit.

IF THERE ARE BACTERIA of any kind, collected from the streets or elsewhere, in the clothes, 100 degrees Fahrenheit will not kill them.

WHEN THE CLOTHES are washed and distributed for use again, the bacilli are likely to be still there, with all their possibilities of causing trouble.

STRICTLY SPEAKING, home washing is not SANITARY.

NO WASHING is strictly sanitary unless it is subjected to heat sufficient to exterminate germ life.

IN ALL THE LARGE CITIES of the country today, milk has to be pasteurized, to protect the consumer from the bacilli of tuberculosis and other living disease spreading organisms.

YOU GET THIS SAME PROTECTION and more when you send your clothes to the LARRIMER LAUNDRY to be cleaned.

NOWHERE ELSE can or do you get it.

IN EVEN THE BEST equipped home it is impossible to give soiled clothes the care and safeguards they receive at the LARRIMER LAUNDRY.

WHEN THIS LAUNDRY receives your soiled bed sheets, pillow cases, table cloths and spreads, towels and other flat work, it places them into a cauldron filled with pure soap and flushed with fresh hot water and steam at a temperature of 180 degrees or more.

Automatic 5201—Both Telephones—Bell 188 W

IF THERE ARE any germs in the clothes, the terrific heat to which they are here exposed for 30 minutes or more, exterminates them.

FROM THE STEAM and hot water cauldron, the clothes are removed, thoroughly clean, to rinsing tubs of fresh water, from which they are next passed to huge rotary wash rollers, which squeeze out of the clothes all of the water with which they are saturated.

AFTER THIS the clothes are removed to the steam drying room, where they are subjected to a heat of approximately 230 degrees.

THERE THEY REMAIN long enough to not only thoroughly dry them, but also thoroughly eradicate any impurity of any kind that may have possibly survived the first 30 minutes' exposure to the steam and hot water in the cauldron.

WHEN THE CLOTHES emerge from the steam drying room they are as fresh and clean as the first day they entered into your home and a good deal more sanitary than they were before.

MANY OF THE RICHEST families—and all of the careful families—in America today send their flat wash to the steam laundry.

WHY DON'T YOU?
THE LARRIMER LAUNDRY will clean them better than you can clean them at home.

THE COST IS A MERE TRIFLE—The Larrimer Laundry will tell you just what it will amount to if you will ask them.

DO IT TODAY—You will feel safer.

THINK, TOO, what it will save you in hard work fuss and trouble at home.

recognized by international law, such vessels, both within and without the area declared a naval war zone, shall not be sunk without warning and without saving human lives, unless the ship attempts to escape or offer resistance.

"But neutrals cannot expect that Germany, forced to fight for existence, shall, for the sake of neutral interests, restrict the use of an effective weapon if the enemy is permitted to continue to supply at will methods of warfare, violating rules of international law.

"Such a demand would be incompatible with the character of neutrality, and the German Government is convinced that the Government of the United States does not think of making such a demand, knowing that the Government of the United States repeatedly declares that it is determined to restore the principle of freedom of the seas from whatever quarter it has been violated.

"Accordingly, the German Government is confident that, in consequence of the new orders issued to the naval forces, the Government of the United States will also now consider all impediments removed which may have been in the way of mutual co-operation toward restoration of the freedom of the seas during war, as suggested in the note of July 23, 1915, and it does not doubt that the Government of the United States will now demand and insist that the British government shall forthwith observe the rules of international law universally recognized before the war, as are laid down in the notes presented by the Government of the United States to

The Real Optimist

The young graduates who face the future with such supreme confidence in their ability to overcome, with ease, any obstacle which a hostile world places in their pathway, have always been accorded the medal as the real optimists.

It's all wrong. The real optimist is the man who in the bright warm sunshine of April and May days, those days when it is just comfortable to work without a coat, when a hat and vest is not at all uncomfortable, goes merrily to work in his garden and knows what an easy task he has before him and wonders why on earth he hasn't been doing it all his life. That's the blue ribbon member of the whole family. No one can tell him that he can't "tend" at least a quarter of an acre of ground, have all the fresh vegetables he wants, and "play" half the time in addition to looking after his regular work of making a living.

The most amazing thing about it all—the most beautiful ray in his optimism is that it makes no difference whether it is his first attempt or not. If, for several years, he has seen the weeds grow at the rate of a foot in every twenty-four hours while his garden truck either refused to break through the crust of the earth or, just out, refused to grow while showers and mud kept him and his hoe on the other side of the fence, he forgets all about when he begins to embroider the seed catalogue pictures on the surface of the back part of his lot.

He is the optimist. Of course, by the time the graduates come along in June he is ready to yield his honors without firing a shot.

There would be very few gardens started if "he" didn't commence work until the sticky weather of June arrived.

The Obregon Agreement

Quite naturally there is some considerable speculation as to the precise terms—the main features—of the agreement reached at the conference between General Scott and Mexican War Minister Obregon, regarding the presence of United States troops in Mexico.

Both conferees expressed themselves at the conclusion of the negotiations as entirely satisfied with the conclusions reached.

It is quite likely that only officials will know, for a time at least, just what was actually agreed upon.

The best "guess" seems to be that an east and west line has been agreed upon beyond which the United States troops shall not proceed south into Mexico.

That, however, is not a matter of very great consequence in view of the other agreements which have very evidently been reached and which have to do with a comprehensive and detail plan of campaign against Villa and other bandit leaders.

The bandit infested sections of Mexico can be cleared entirely of the robber gangs if there is entire accord between the United States troops and the troops of the de facto government and that a joint effort has been mapped out now seems reasonably certain.

The probable time of withdrawal and the manner of withdrawal by the United States troops matters but little.

The big outstanding features are the consent that the United States may use the railroads and that the two armies are to act in conjunction and "comb" the whole country north and south.

If concert of action is followed and the Carranza armies keep pace with Col. Dodd's command all will be over before the expiration of sixty days.

It is clear that the main feature is the capture of bandit leaders and not the withdrawal. Therefore the greatest importance should be attached to that feature.

"Tommy Atkins" in the War

The people who have seriously doubted that Great Britain was bearing the burdens of the European war proportionate to the importance of the conflict upon the future of the United Kingdom, have reason to be more appreciative of her endeavors now.

Very few people indeed have doubted that Great Britain was financing the great struggle for the entente allies and few who failed to realize that King George's government was ruling the seas with an iron hand, save only for the activities of the submarines.

But there has always been an underecurrent of feeling that Great Britain was not sending her full quota of men into the theater of war.

Premier Asquith's statement that Great Britain has already sent five million men into the struggle and is now resorting to drastic measures to secure more men to send to the front should, and doubtless will, do much to counteract a wrong impression.

While the troops of France and Russia have been spectacularly active on both the western and eastern fronts, the final toll of losses will very likely prove that Tommy Atkins was very numerously in the fighting.

The fact that French and Russian generals are in charge of the land fighting and the battles are fought on the lands of other nations may account for the fact that the number of British soldiers has not been fully realized.

Poetry For Today

MY BOY.

I've raised my boy to be a soldier
In the battle for the right,
For country, peace and honor
He is not "too proud to fight."

May the God of battles spare us!
May our leaders see the light!
Whatever be the peril
May freedom conquer might!

Must our land be purged with fire?
Must our days be turned to night?
Must our homes be full of sorrow?
Must we give our heart's delight?

Then I know my boy'll be ready,
Prepared to give his all
To hold his comrades steady
When they answer to the call.

Should he fall beside his brothers
And my eyes be dimmed with tears
If all I love goes with him
And I dread the passing years.

Still I know he did his duty,
That he triumphed in the fight,
That he gave his life for others,
That I raised my boy aright.

POSITIONS ENLARGED

(By American Press)

Paris, May 5.—The new French position at Le Mort Homme which resulted from the gains made in Wednesday's attack has been enlarged and consolidated. The Germans bombarded both Le Mort Homme and Hill 304 very violently, and also sent out a small infantry attack against certain of the trenches taken by the French in the counter offensive. This attack broke down.

CREDITS BILL IS PASSED

(By American Press)

Washington, May 5.—By a vote of 58 to 5 the senate passed the farm loan bill, fathered by Senator Hollis and embodying the administration plan for establishing a system of rural credits.

Senators Brandegee, Lodge, Oliver, Page and Wadsworth, all Republicans, voted against the measure.

The bill, after almost two weeks of debate, passed almost as reported by the banking committee. An amendment by Senator Smoot reducing salaries of the farm loan board from $10,000 to $7,500, which was adopted by a vote of 26 to 25 in the committee of the whole, was considered when the bill reached the senate and defeated, 29 to 31.

A somewhat similar bill has been reported by the public banking committee, and it is said, will be brought up for consideration in the house soon. Like the senate measure, it would create a chain of farm loan banks, but it differs in means of operation.

The senate bill provides for a non-partisan farm loan board, to consist of the secretary of the treasury and four others, having general control of a farm loan system of twelve or more land banks and of farm loan associations, through which loans actually would be made.

Each land bank would have a capital stock of at least $500,000, to be subscribed by the government, if not taken by the public. The farm loan associations would be co-operative, made up of ten or more farmers, who would obtain a charter from their district land bank.

A farmer desiring to become a borrower would be required to take stock in the association equal to 5 per cent of his loan; the association in turn would take an equal amount of stock in the land bank, which would appraise the security offered and make the loan through the association. On mortgages amounting to $50,000, a bank might issue a like amount of farm loan bonds, which would be secured by all twelve land banks. All profits would go to the loan associations in dividends, and thus to the borrowers, who are shareholders in them. Loans might be on as long terms as thirty-six years and on the amortization plan, as that with each interest payment the farmer could pay a small amount on his principal. Loans would be limited to first mortgages and could not exceed 50 per cent of the appraised value of the land.

CITY SOLONS HOLD SESSION

Little Business of Importance Transacted—Improvement of Lewis and Rawlings Streets Taken Up—Changes Ordered in English Addition—Dog Tax Discussed.

Little business of importance was transacted at the adjourned session of the city council, Thursday night, although quite a lot of time was occupied, chiefly with the old style informal discussions.

A motion to notify the property owners on Lewis street to improve their sidewalks between Rawlings and Gregg streets was carried.

A motion to remove the catch basins from the "Barber Ditch" in the English addition, carried.

Howell moved that a pool on Forest street and within a few rods of the Barber ditch, be drained. The motion carried, and the work is to be done as soon as money is available.

Upon motion by Howell Solicitor Gregg was instructed to prepare resolutions for building four foot concrete sidewalks on both sides of Millikan avenue.

A number of matters were carried over, the committee making no reports on them. The salary increase for the driver of the motor truck was one of the matters carried over.

Action was taken to lengthen the sewer on Oakland avenue and fill in where the new sidewalk is to be constructed.

Inquiry of the Solicitor was made concerning the extension of the Oakland avenue sewer across private property to the Carr run, and the solicitor held that he could see no objection if the property owners gave consent.

Mayor Oster called attention to the dog tax which again begins the fiscal year June 1st, and stated that the tax should begin the first of the year. He stated that he had no tags and was instructed to get same.

Henry Brownell asked if council had abandoned the paving of Rawlings street, and was informed that according to a resolution adopted by council sometime ago no more paving jobs would be undertaken this year. Mr. Brownell then called attention to the property owners' offer to pay 98 per cent of the total cost, and council, after some discussion, looked with favor upon this, but no definite action was taken. A meeting was called for Thursday night of next week to take up the proposal and other matters.

COMMENCEMENT A BIG SUCCESS

The annual commencement of the Bloomingburg high school passed off most successfully Thursday night, with the Presbyterian church filled with friends of the graduates.

A wreath of spring flowers massed the stage and the Bloomingburg orchestra, directed by Mr. Wilkins, of the Wilkins & Long Music Store, played beautifully throughout the evening. The class processional was particularly effective and was followed by the invocation by Rev. C. L. Thomas.

The Senior girls rendered a very pretty quintet, Miss Lora Pummell, class poetess, displayed no small talent in a rhythmic poem, of beautiful sentiment, and Theodore Smith, class lawyer, presented an extreme ly clever and witty class will, which brought forth laughter and applause.

Assistant State Superintendent J. H. Cook delivered a fine class address.

With well chosen words of commendation High school principal Thacker, presented diplomas to Lois Thomas, Doris Andrews, Lora Pummell, Fern Groff, Pauline Haines, Earl Sheley, Earl Hicks, David Thomas, Theodore Smith, Will Lee.

BIG TOURING CAR DESTROYED

Earl Powell's Seven Passenger Westcott Burns From Fire of Mysterious Origin—Insured.

Late Thursday evening the big Westcott seven passenger touring car owned by Earl Powell, agent in this city, was almost entirely destroyed by fire while the car was standing by the roadside on the Snow Hill pike, near the Rattle snake bridge.

Mr. Powell and others were fishing at the time, and had been away from the car about 30 minutes when they noticed flames and dense smoke arising from the machine. They rushed to the auto but were forced back by the intense heat, which had melted a hole in the gasoline tank and was burning furiously.

In a short time the entire body of the car was consumed, and the gasoline, some eight gallons, continued to burn for more than three hours.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION CLOSES

The County Sunday School Convention held a most interesting closing session Thursday afternoon at the Church of Christ, with Rev. G. H. Harper leading devotions.

There were two fine addresses. H. C. Gridland, secretary of the Montgomery County Sunday School Association, Dayton, discussed "The Three R's." Among many forceful epigrammatic statements he said that people read the professing Christian more than they read the life of Christ; that some who pray on their knees in church pray on their neighbors the rest of the week; that a Sunday school without a teachers' training class is committing slow suicide.

Rev. F. M. Swinehart, of Greenfield, treated of "Evangelism in the Sunday School," urging with power and eloquence that Christians do their part towards the evangelizing of the world. He offered many practical suggestions for successful work along this line.

Mrs. Mable Marchant, of Jamestown, added a beautiful cornet solo to the program.

HOW TO GET STRONG

A Simple Remedy.

Whatever the cause, we want to say to every person who needs strength, you need Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil, as it is the most efficient strength creator we have in our store. Here is proof from Dorchester, Mass.—

"I don't know what we would do without Vinol in our family. I was weak, nervous, and run-down as the result of an operation, and Vinol restored my strength. Then Grandmother had a nervous breakdown, and Vinol built her up and restored her health and strength after everything else had failed. We have used Vinol for 13 years in our family and would not be without it in the house." Myrtle L. Healy, Dorchester, Mass.

We believe in Vinol because we know it is a great strength creator—due to the extractive medicinal elements of fresh cod livers, without oil, combined with peptone of iron and beef peptone, all dissolved in a pure medicinal wine, so we always return the purchase money if Vinol fails to benefit those who buy it. PRESIDENT APPROVES THE PLAN

Tentative Agreement Drawn Up at Border Conference.

NOW PUT UP TO CARRANZA

Wilson Feels That the Pact Framed by Generals Scott and Obregon Will Provide a Basis For Co-operation and Strengthen Cordial Relations of the Two Republics—Withdrawal of Troops From Mexico Not Covered.

Washington, May 5.—President Wilson entirely approves the tentative agreement drawn up at El Paso.

Major General Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff of the American army, was instructed by Secretary of War Baker to notify General Alvaro Obregon, Carranza's minister of war, of this fact.

President Wilson issued a statement in which he said the agreement evidences cordial co-operation between the two governments in their common purpose. He added: "In general I may say that it provides a basis of co-operation which promises to prevent misunderstanding and strengthens the cordial relations of the two republics."

Pending the receipt of formal information that Carranza has accepted the agreement, its terms will not be made public here.

It is assumed by officials that as soon as General Scott receives his instructions and learns that Obregon has heard from Carranza he will arrange for a final conference for the exchange of ratifications. It is understood that following these exchanges Secretary of State Lansing will prepare a formal note to the Carranza government in reply to Foreign Minister Aguilar's suggestion that the two government treat for a withdrawal of the American expedition. This note will state that inasmuch as the military conferences on the border have resulted in a mutual understanding looking to co-operation between the forces of the two governments it would seem unnecessary at this time to undertake any diplomatic arrangements.

Officials of the administration expressed entire satisfaction with the terms of the Scott-Obregon agreement. At his conference with the president Secretary Baker submitted the full detailed report received from General Scott. The president is said to have expressed himself as thoroughly satisfied.

At the White House it was declared emphatically that the agreement does not provide for a withdrawal movement of the troops at this time, and imposes no time limit on the presence of the expedition in Mexico. The whole purpose aimed at, it was stated, is complete co-operation between the forces of the two governments in the final suppression of the bandits.

One of the concessions made by Obregon, it was said, includes permission for the use of the Mexican railroads in provisioning the American forces.

Washington, May 5.—Conferees on the army reorganization bill disagreed on important features of the measure and adjourned until matters in disagreement can be taken up in the house. The rocks on which the committee broke were the federal volunteer army and the $15,000,000 government nitrate plant amendments adopted by the senate.

Notwithstanding the disagreement, Senator Chamberlain, chairman of the senate conferees, said he had hopes that a good bill eventually would be worked out. If the president continues to insist on the nitrate plant provision, it was declared, another clash between the executive and the house would ensue.

AWFUL DROP

(By American Press)

New York, May 5.—De Lloyd Thompson, the spectacular aviator who recently "bombed" New York and Washington from the sky, and Harold W. Blakeley, instructor for the Sloane Aeroplane company, fell 600 feet from the air above the aviation field at Garden City, L. I. Both were so severely injured that they were taken to the Nassau County hospital, and the machine in which they were riding, a big Sloane military tractor biplane, owned by the New York national guard and used for training militia aviators, was badly smashed. Thompson's left leg above the ankle was fractured, and Blakeley, it is thought, may have internal injuries.

FOR UNION OF THE M.E. CHURCHES

Commission on Federation Submits Its Report.

Saratoga, N. Y., May 5.—Union of all the Methodist Episcopal churches in America is indorsed in a report submitted to the general conference by the commission on federation which was appointed in 1912 with a view of co-operating with the Methodist Episcopal church South and the Methodist Protestant church in bringing about Methodist unity. The report was referred to a special committee, which will report later with a definite recommendation.

A recommendation is made that a special commission on unification be appointed to serve during the next quadrennium, to consist of four bishops, eight ministers and thirteen laymen, and to be "fully authorized to conduct negotiations with the Methodist Episcopal church South and the Methodist Protestant church and with other Methodist or kindred bodies, if occasion should arise."

The principal plan for union submitted to the general conference is one recommended by the Southern Methodists, who suggested one general conference and three subordinate conferences, in the east, west and south.

Considerable difference of opinion exists over the place the colored members would have under the new plan. One proposition calls for a fourth subordinate conference with colored members, and another would separate them from the proposed combination entirely and place them in a conference by themselves, with only fraternal relations with the united body.

TURN 'IM LOOSE

New York, May 5.—Leaders of the cause of Irish independence in this city united in declaring that every effort will be made to bring about the release of James M. Sullivan, arrested in Dublin. They are convinced, they said, that he took no active part in the preparations for the recent revolt, and base their opinions on letters recently received from him. The state department, it was asserted, will be asked to intervene, because of Sullivan's American citizenship.

Jeremiah O'Leary, an intimate friend of Sullivan, declared he went to Ireland last June with his wife and small son merely to live with his father-in-law, Stephen O'Mara, a former mayor of Limerick. Sullivan was American minister to San Domingo under Secretary Bryan. He has been taken to London.

SECOND RANK FOR U. S. NAVY

Experts Say It Would Cost About $790,000,000.

Washington, May 5.—It will cost the United States to climb back into second place among the naval powers of the world $791,441,207.

This is the estimate of the general board of the navy transmitted to the Republican members of the house naval affairs committee and considered by them as a basis for a proposal to enlarge the building program suggested by the administration.

The total of $791,441,207 includes the cost of building ships, the cost of additional personnel required for one year and the cost of general stores and ammunition for one year. In it is also included the cost of the latter two items to make up the shortages on ships now in commission and to equip the ships now building and authorized.

The general board estimates that the United States must have 16 capital ships at once, 6 dreadnaughts and 10 battle cruisers to exceed Germany's navy. In addition it must build 78 coast submarines, 9 fleet submarines, 80 destroyers and 21 scout cruisers. For aeronautics a lump sum of $7,000,000 is proposed. These estimates take into consideration the ships Germany has added to her navy since the outbreak of the war, so far as is known.

THE FULL TEXT OF GERMANY'S REPLY

Feeling of Disappointment Among Officials Which the Opening Sentences of the Note Created Was Later On Leavened By the Text of the New Orders to German Submarine Commanders—Stress Is Laid Upon Great Britain's Violation of International Law—Refusal to Abandon Submarine Warfare.

Berlin, May 5.—(By Associated Press Wireless)—Following is the text of the German Government's note in reply to the American note on submarine warfare delivered on Thursday by Gotlieb von Jagow to Ambassador Gerard.

"The undersigned on behalf of the Imperial German Government has the honor to present to his Excellency the Ambassador of the United States, Mr. James W. Gerard, the following reply to the note of April 20, regarding the conduct of German submarine warfare.

"The German government handed over to the proper naval authorities for investigation the evidence concerning the Sussex as compiled by the government of the United States.

"Judging by the result of that the investigation has hitherto yielded, the German government is alive to the possibility that the ship mentioned in the note of April 1st as having been torpedoed by a German submarine is actually identical with the Sussex.

"The German government begs to reserve further comment on the matter until certain points are ascertained, which are of decisive importance for establishing the facts of the case. Should it turn out that the commander was wrong in assuming the vessel to be a man-of-war, the German government will not fail to draw the consequence resulting therefrom. In connection with the case of the Sussex the Government of the United States made a series of statements, the gist of which is the assertion that the incident is to be considered but one instance of a deliberate method of indiscriminate destruction of vessels of all sorts, nationalities and destination by German submarines.

"The German government must emphatically repudiate the assertion. The German government, however, thinks it of little avail to enter into details in the present stage of affairs, more particularly as the Government of the United States omitted to substantiate the assertion by reference to concrete facts.

"The German Government will only state that it has only imposed far reaching restraint upon the use of the submarine weapon, solely in consideration of neutral interests, in spite of the fact that these restrictions are necessarily of advantage to Germany's enemies.

"No such consideration has ever been shown neutrals by Great Britain and her allies. The German submarine forces have had in fact orders to conduct the submarine warfare in accordance with the general principles of visit and search, and the destruction of German vessels recognized by international law, the sole exception of against enemy trade carried on enemy freight ships encountered in the war zone surrounding Great Britain.

"With regard to these no assurances has ever been given to the Government of the United States. No such assurances are contained in the declaration of February 8th, 1916. The German government cannot admit any doubt that these orders were given or executed in good faith. Others actually occurred. They can in no kind of warfare be avoided altogether.

"Allowances must be made in the conduct of naval warfare against an enemy resorting to all kinds of rules whether permissible or illicit.

"But apart from the possibility of errors, naval warfare, just like warfare on land, implies unavoidable danger for neutral persons and goods entering the fighting zone.

"Even in cases where the naval action is confined to ordinary form of cruiser warfare neutral persons and goods repeatedly come to grief. The German government has repeatedly and explicitly pointed out the danger from mines that

CABINET MEETS

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Washington, May 5.—President Wilson and the Cabinet went carefully over the German note as transmitted in news dispatches from Berlin.

A first feeling that it was unsatisfactory was somewhat leavened by the text of the new orders to submarine commanders, although it was foreseen that the reference to immunity for "merchant ships recognized by international law" might admit of some dispute of interpretation.

So much depends upon words and their shades of meaning involved in translation from German to English that no decision can be attempted until the official text is in the President's hands.

Two views were current in official circles. One was that Germany has declared her intention of abandoning her "present methods of submarine warfare," as demanded by the President, and that the American government might have to wait to see whether the abandonment will be effected.

The other was that the United States, having already attempted to have Great Britain give up its interference with neutral commerce, and having told Germany that it cannot discuss with her its negotiations with Great Britain, has no course but to break diplomatic relations with Germany.

While the general tone of the German note created an unfavorable impression, officials took the position that the language was immaterial if the guarantees were real.

Germany's declaration that she has issued new orders to submarine commanders not to attack without warning "merchant vessels recognized by international law" was considered the chief point.

The German view of merchant vessels, as defined in its declaration of February 8th, of its purpose to sink armed ships without warning, and the American view, as defined in the armed ship memorandum made public recently, differ in several respects.

WASHINGTON BELIEVES NOTE SATISFACTORY

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Washington, May 5.—While final decision on the attitude of the American government waits on the official text, some Cabinet members indicated today that the German assurances would probably be accepted, and that diplomatic relations would not be broken unless the order to submarine commanders were violated and American lives endangered.

At the State Department after the Cabinet meeting, it was stated that no hasty action would be taken on the German note, and that, in view of its length and the necessity of digesting it carefully, it was "improbable" that any decision would be reached before next week.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Cleveland, O., May 5.—This story may sound like a nature fake but the Cleveland police swear it isn't. A Cleveland horse has an ear for music, with a preference for ragtime, according to the story being told by the police.

This particular horse was jogging contentedly along when he heard the notes of a popular song from a phonograph in a downtown store.

Mr. Horse made a dash for the store doorway, dragging an express wagon after him. The wagon became wedged in the door, and the animal, unmindful of the screams of women and shouts of clerks, set his ears forward and listened to the song, allowing himself to be led away by Joseph Davis, the driver, only when the phonograph had been shut off.

GERMANY'S REPLY TO THE U.S.

Without Health Man Can Not Expect to Be Contented.

When a man who loves life throws out his chest, pulls his cigar from between smiling lips, and says, "I feel great—I can eat anything," he has struck the keynote of content and is envied by his fellows.

But when that same man, only a short time before, is all rundown, nervous, and can't trust his stomach to accept even the plainest fare, and then comes back into his own, he is so happy that he wants to make life letter for the "other fellows" who suffer as he once did.

It is just this feeling that has prompted many thousands of men and women throughout the United States to tell of the benefits they have derived from Tanlac, the great reconstructive tonic, invigorant, appetizer and rebuilding of torn down tissues.

Tanlac appeals to the best people everywhere, nowhere in the history of proprietary medicines has there been found a preparation that has equalled Tanlac's record for instant popularity. Although this now famous Master Medicine has been on the market only a trifle over a year two millions of bottles have already been sold. Tanlac's success is based entirely upon merit.

In every community there are a legion of nervous, rundown men and women. Not really sick, perhaps, but affected with a nervous debilitated condition, so that they imagine countless things are wrong with them. They have frequent headaches, are sluggish in mind and in body, and they havn't enough real energy to make them self-reliant in even the little things of life.

They need something that contains the right nerve food, tonic, invigorant and appetizer which will awaken their sleeping energies. They also need something to speed up their assimilation to a normal state, something to bring back old vitality of self-reliance and a cheery view of life.

Tanlac will meet these needs. It has proven beneficial in cases of stomach, kidney and liver fits, which are the base of these common disorders. It fortifies one to better endurance, exposure and the daily grind of life.

As the proof of the pudding is in the eating, so is the proof of Tanlac in the taking.

Tanlac is being especially introduced in Washington C. H. at the Blackmer Tanquary Drug Store where the Tanlac Man daily explains its merits and the benefits that may be expected from its use.

Tanlac may be obtained in the following nearby towns: Sabina, J. J. Spurgeon; Wilmington, Harry Christopher; Jeffersonville, J. B. Davis; Jamestown, W. F. Harper; Greenfield, Harry Christopher; Bainbridge, A. W. Fetter; Anderson, C. A. Graves; Chillicothe, Musshler Pharmacy; Leesburg, Chas. W. Feller; New Vienna, W. C. Higley; Austin, William M. Near; Bowersville, C. E. Gardner; Bloomingburg, J. Y. Stitt; Clarksburg, Clarksburg Drug Store.

Mrs. Austin's Bag Pancake, delicacies light cakes for breakfast, adv-

have led to the loss of numerous ships. The German government has made several proposals to the Government of the United States in order to reduce to a minimum for American travelers and goods, the inherent danger of naval warfare.

"Unfortunately the government of the United States decided not to accept the proposals. Had it accepted the Government of the United States would have been instrumental in preventing the greater part of the accidents that American citizens have met with in the meantime.

"The German government still stands by its offer to come to an agreement along these lines. As the German government repeatedly declared it cannot dispense with the use of the submarine weapon in the conduct of warfare against enemy trade.

"The German government, however, has now decided to make a further concession adapting methods of submarine war to the interest of neutrals. In reaching this decision the German government is actuated by considerations which are above the level of the disputed question. The German government attaches no less importance to the sacred principles of humanity than the government of the United States. It again fully takes into account that both governments for many years co-operated in developing international law in conformity with these principles the ultimate object of which has always been to confine warfare on sea and land to armed forces of belligerents and safeguard as far as possible noncombatants against the horrors of war.

"But although these considerations are of notable weight, they alone would not under present circumstances, have determined the attitude of the German government. For in answer to the appeal by the government of the United States on behalf of the sacred principles of humanity and international law the German government must repeat once more with all emphasis that it was not the German government, but the British government which ignored accepted rules of international law and extended this terrible war to the lives and property of noncombatants, having no regard whatever for the interests and rights of neutrals and noncombatants that through this method of warfare have been severely injured.

In self defense against the illegal conduct of British warfare, while fighting a bitter struggle for national existence, Germany had to resort to the hard but effective weapon of submarine warfare.

"As matters stand the German government cannot but reiterate regret that the sentiments of humanity which the Government of the United States extends with such fervor to the unhappy victims of submarine warfare, are not extended with the same warmth of feeling to many millions of women and children, who according to the avowed intention of the British Government, shall be starved, and who, by sufferings, shall force the victorious armies of the Central Powers into ignominious capitulation.

"The German government in agreement with the German people

fails to understand this discrimination, all the more as it has repeatedly and explicitly declared itself ready to use the submarine weapon in strict conformity with the rules of international law as recognized before the outbreak of the war, if Great Britain likewise was ready to adopt the conduct of warfare to these rules.

"Several attempts made by the Government of the United States to prevail upon the British government to act accordingly, failed because of flat refusal on the part of the British government.

"Moreover Great Britain again and again has violated international law, surpassing all bounds in outraging neutral rights. The latest measure adopted by Great Britain, declaring German bunker coal contraband and establishing conditions under which England's bunker coal is alone supplied to neutrals, is nothing but an unheard-of attempt by way of exaction to force neutral tonnage into the service of their trade war.

"The German people know that the government of the United States has the power to confine the war to armed forces of the belligerent countries in the interest of humanity and maintenance of international law. The government of the United States would have been certain of attaining this end had it been determined to insist against Great Britain on the incontrovertible rights to freedom of the seas. But as matters stand the German people are under the impression that the Government of the United States while demanding that Germany, struggling for existence, shall restrain the use of an effective weapon, and while making compliance with the demands, a condition for maintenance of relations with Germany confines itself to protest against illegal methods adopted by Germany's enemies."

"Moreover the German people know to what considerable extent its enemies are supplied with all kinds of war material from the United States.

"It will therefore be understood that the appeal made by the government of the United States to the sentiment of humanity and principles of international law, cannot under the circumstances, meet the same hearty response from the German people which such an appeal otherwise always is certain to find here. If the German government, nevertheless, is resolved to go to the utmost limit of concessions, it has been guided not alone by the friendship connecting the two great nations for over 100 years, but also by the thought of the great doom which threatens the entire civilized world, should the cruel and sanguinary war be extended and prolonged.

"The German Government, conscious of Germany's strength, twice within the last few months announced before the world its readiness to make peace on a basis safeguarding Germany's vital interests, thus indicating that it is not Germany's fault if peace is still withheld from the nations of Europe.

"The German Government feels all the more justified in declaring that responsibility could not be borne before the forum of mankind and in history if, after twenty-one months of the war's duration, the submarine question, under discussion between the German Government and the Government of the United States, were to take a turn seriously threatening maintenance of peace between the two nations.

"As far as lies with the German Government, it wishes to prevent things from taking such a course.

"The German Government, moreover, is prepared to do its utmost to confine operations of the war, "for the rest of its duration, to the fighting forces of the belligerents; thereby also insuring freedom of the seas, a principle upon which the German Government believes, now as before, that it is in agreement with the Government of the United States.

"The German Government, guided by this idea, notifies the Government of the United States that German naval forces have received the following order:

"In accordance with the general principles of visit and search, and the destruction of merchant vessels

It Is More Sanitary To Have Your Family Wash Done At The LARRIMER LAUNDRY Than To Do It At Home

WHEN YOU WASH soiled clothes in your home the water you use is rarely over 100 degrees Fahrenheit.

IF THERE ARE BACTERIA of any kind, collected from the streets or elsewhere, in the clothes, 100 degrees Fahrenheit will not kill them.

WHEN THE CLOTHES are washed and distributed for use again, the bacilli are likely to be still there, with all their possibilities of causing trouble.

STRICTLY SPEAKING, home washing is not SANITARY.

NO WASHING is strictly sanitary unless it is subjected to heat sufficient to exterminate germ life.

IN ALL THE LARGE CITIES of the country today, milk has to be pasteurized, to protect the consumer from the bacilli of tuberculosis and other living disease spreading organisms.

YOU GET THIS same protection and more when you send your clothes to the LARRIMER LAUNDRY to be cleaned.

NOWHERE ELSE can or do you get it.

IN EVEN THE BEST equipped home it is impossible to give soiled clothes the care and safeguards they receive at the LARRIMER LAUNDRY.

WHEN THIS LAUNDRY receives your soiled bed sheets, pillow cases, table cloths and spreads, towels and other flat work, it places them into a caldron filled with pure soap and flushed with fresh hot water and steam at a temperature of 180 degrees or more.

Automatic 5201—Both Telephones—Bell 188 W

IF THERE ARE any germs in the clothes, the terrific heat to which they are here exposed for 30 minutes or more, exterminates them.

FROM THE STEAM and hot water caldron, the clothes are removed, thoroughly clean, to rinsing tubs of fresh water, from which they are next passed to huge rotary wash rollers, which squeeze out of the clothes all of the water with which they are saturated.

AFTER THIS the clothes are removed to the steam drying room, where they are subjected to a heat of approximately 230 degrees.

THERE THEY REMAIN long enough to not only thoroughly dry them, but also thoroughly eradicate any impurity of any kind that may have possibly survived the first 30 minutes' exposure to the steam and hot water in the caldron.

WHEN THE CLOTHES emerge from the steam drying room they are as fresh and clean as the first day they entered into your home and a good deal more sanitary than they were before.

MANY OF THE RICHEST families—and all of the careful families—in America today send their flat wash to the steam laundry.

WHY DON'T YOU? THE LARRIMER LAUNDRY will clean them better than you can clean them at home.

THE COST IS A MERE TRIFLE—The Larrimer Laundry will tell you just what it will amount to if you will ask them.

DO IT TODAY—You will feel safer.

THINK, TOO, what it will save you in hard work fuss and trouble at home.

recognized by international law, such vessels, both within and without the area declared a naval war zone, shall not be sunk without warning and without saving human lives, unless the ship attempts to escape or offer resistance.

"But neutrals cannot expect that Germany, forced to fight for existence, shall restrain the use of an effective weapon, and while making compliance with the demands, a condition for maintenance of relations with Germany confines itself to protest against illegal methods adopted by Germany's enemies."

"Such a demand would be incompatible with the character of neutrality, and the German Government is convinced that the Government of the United States does not think of making such a demand, knowing that the Government of the United States repeatedly declares that it is determined to restore the principle of freedom of the seas from whatever quarter it has been violated.

"Accordingly, the German Government is confident that, in consequence of the new orders issued to the naval forces, the Government of the United States will also now consider all impediments removed which may have been in the way of mutual co-operation toward restoration of the freedom of the seas during war, as suggested in the note of July 23, 1915, and it does not doubt that the Government of the United States will now demand and insist that the British government shall forthwith observe the rules of international law universally recognized before the war, as are laid down in the notes presented by the Government of the United States to the British Government December 28, 1914, and November 5, 1915.

"Should steps taken by the Government of the United States not attain the object it desires, to have the laws of humanity followed by all belligerent nations, the German Government would then be facing a new situation in which it must reserve to itself complete liberty of decision.

The Real Optimist

The young graduates who face the future with such supreme confidence in their ability to overcome, with ease, any obstacle which a hostile world places in their pathway, have always been accorded the medal as the real optimists.

It's all wrong. The real optimist is the man who in the bright warm sunshine of April and May days, those days when it is just comfortable to work without a coat, when a hat and vest is not at all uncomfortable, goes merrily to work in his garden and knows what an easy task he has before him and wonders why on earth he hasn't been doing it all his life. That's the blue ribbon member of the whole family. No one can tell him that he can't "tend" at least a quarter of an acre of ground, have all the fresh vegetables he wants, and "play" half the time in addition to looking after his regular work of making a living.

The most amazing thing about it all—the most beautiful ray in his optimism is that it makes no difference whether it is his first attempt or not. If, for several years, he has seen the weeds grow at the rate of a foot in every twenty-four hours while his garden truck either refused to break through the crust of the earth or, just out, refused to grow while showers and mud kept him and his hoe on the other side of the fence, he forgets all about when he begins to embroider the seed catalogue pictures on the surface of the back part of his lot.

He is the optimist. Of course, by the time the graduates come along in June he is ready to yield his honors without firing a shot. There would be very few gardens started if "he" didn't commence work until the sticky weather of June arrived.

The Obregon Agreement

Quite naturally there is some considerable speculation as to the precise terms—the main features—of the agreement reached at the conference between General Scott and Mexican War Minister Obregon, regarding the presence of United States troops in Mexico.

Both conferees expressed themselves at the conclusion of the negotiations as entirely satisfied with the conclusions reached.

It is quite likely that only officials will know, for a time at least, just what was actually agreed upon.

The best "guess" seems to be that an east and west line has been agreed upon beyond which the United States troops shall not proceed south into Mexico.

That, however, is not a matter of very great consequence in view of the other agreements which have very evidently been reached and which have to do with a comprehensive and detail plan of campaign against Villa and other bandit leaders.

The bandit infested sections of Mexico can be cleared entirely of the robber gangs if there is entire accord between the United States troops and the troops of the de facto government and that a joint effort has been mapped out now seems reasonably certain.

The probable time of withdrawal and the manner of withdrawal by the United States troops matters but little.

The big outstanding features are the consent that the United States may use the railroads and that the two armies are to act in conjunction and "comb" the whole country north and south.

If concert of action is followed and the Carranza armies keep pace with Col. Dodd's command all will be over before the expiration of sixty days.

It is clear that the main feature is the capture of bandit leaders and not the withdrawal. Therefore the greatest importance should be attached to that feature.

"Tommy Atkins" in the War

The people who have seriously doubted that Great Britain was bearing the burdens of the European war proportionate to the importance of the conflict upon the future of the United Kingdom, have reason to be more appreciative of her endeavors now.

Very few people indeed have doubted that Great Britain was financing the great struggle for the entente allies and few who failed to realize that King George's government was ruling the seas with an iron hand, save only for the activities of the submarines.

But there has always been an undereurrent of feeling that Great Britain was not sending her full quota of men into the theater of war.

Premier Asquith's statement that Great Britain has already sent five million men into the struggle and is now resorting to drastic measures to secure more men to send to the front should, and doubtless will, do much to counteract a wrong impression.

While the troops of France and Russia have been spectacularly active on both the western and eastern fronts, the final toll of losses will very likely prove that Tommy Atkins was very numerously in the fighting.

The fact that French and Russian generals are in charge of the land fighting and the battles are fought on the lands of other nations may account for the fact that the number of British soldiers has not been fully realized.

Poetry For Today

MY BOY.

I've raised my boy to be a soldier
In the battle for the right,
For country, peace and honor
He is not "too proud to fight."

May the God of battles spare us!
May our leaders see the light!
Whatever be the peril
May freedom conquer might!

Must our land be purged with fire?
Must our days be turned to night?
Must our homes be full of sorrow?
Must we give our heart's delight?

Then I know my boy'll be ready,
Prepared to give his all
To hold his comrades steady
When they answer to the call.

Should he fall beside his brothers
And my eyes be dimmed with tears
If all I love goes with him
And I dread the passing years.

Still I know he did his duty.
That he triumphed in the fight,
That he gave his life for others,
That I raised my boy aright.

Paris, May 5.—The new French position at Le Mort Homme which resulted from the gains made in Wednesday's attack has been enlarged and consolidated. The Germans bombarded both Le Mort Homme and Hill 304 very violently, and also sent out a small infantry attack against certain of the trenches taken by the French in the counter offensive. This attack broke down.

CREDITS BILL IS PASSED

(By American Press)

Washington, May 5.—By a vote of 58 to 5 the senate passed the farm loan bill, fathered by Senator Hollis and embodying the administration plan for establishing a system of rural credits.

Senators Brandegee, Lodge, Oliver, Page and Wadsworth, all Republicans, voted against the measure.

The bill, after almost two weeks of debate, passed almost as reported by the banking committee. An amendment by Senator Smoot reducing salaries of the farm loan board from $10,000 to $7,500, which was adopted by a vote of 26 to 25 in the committee of the whole, was considered when the bill reached the senate and defeated, 29 to 31.

A somewhat similar bill has been reported by the public banking committee, and it is said, will be brought up for consideration in the house soon. Like the senate measure, it would create a chain of farm loan banks, but it differs in means of operation.

The senate bill provides for a non-partisan farm loan board, to consist of the secretary of the treasury and four others, having general control of a farm loan system of twelve or more land banks and of farm loan associations, through which loans actually would be made.

Each land bank would have a capital stock of at least $500,000, to be subscribed by the government, if not taken by the public. The farm loan associations would be co-operative, made up of ten or more farmers, who would obtain a charter from their district land bank.

A farmer desiring to become a borrower would be required to take stock in the loan association equal to 5 per cent of his loan; the association in turn would take an equal amount of stock in the land bank, which would appraise the security offered and make the loan through the association. On mortgages amounting to $50,000, a bank might issue a like amount of farm loan bonds, which would be secured by all twelve land banks. All profits would go to the loan associations in dividends, and thus to the borrowers, who are shareholders in them. Loans might be on as long terms as thirty-six years and on the amortization plan, as that with each interest payment the farmer could pay a small amount on his principal. Loans would be limited to first mortgages and could not exceed 50 per cent of the appraised value of the land.

CITY SOLONS HOLD SESSION

Little Business of Importance Transacted—Improvement of Lewis and Rawlings Streets Taken Up—Changes Ordered in English Addition—Dog Tax Discussed.

Little business of importance was transacted at the adjourned session of the city council, Thursday night, although quite a lot of time was occupied, chiefly with the old style informal discussions.

A motion to notify the property owners on Lewis street to improve their sidewalks between Rawlings and Gregg streets was carried.

A motion to remove the catch basins from the "Barber Ditch" in the English addition, carried.

Howell moved that a pool on Forest street and within a few rods of the Barber ditch, be drained. The motion carried, and the work is to be done as soon as money is available.

Upon motion by Howell Solicitor Gregg was instructed to prepare resolutions for building four foot concrete sidewalks on both sides of Millikan avenue.

A number of matters were carried over, the committee making no reports on them. The salary increase for the driver of the motor truck was one of the matters carried over.

Action was taken to lengthen the sewer on Oakland avenue and fill in where the new sidewalk is to be constructed.

Inquiry of the Solicitor was made concerning the extension of the Oakland avenue sewer across private property to the Carr run, and the solicitor held that he could see no objection if the property owners gave consent.

Mayor Oster called attention to the dog tax which again begins the fiscal year June 1st, and stated that the tax should begin the first of the year. He stated that he had no tags and was instructed to get same.

Henry Brownell asked if council had abandoned the paving of Rawlings street, and was informed that according to a resolution adopted by council sometime ago no more paving jobs would be undertaken this year. Mr. Brownell then called attention to the property owners' offer to pay 98 per cent of the total cost, and council, after some discussion, looked with favor upon this, but no definite action was taken. A meeting was called for Thursday night of next week to take up the proposal and other matters.

COMMENCEMENT A BIG SUCCESS

The annual commencement of the Bloomingburg high school passed off most successfully Thursday night, with the Presbyterian church filled with friends of the graduates.

A wreath of spring flowers massed the stage and the Bloomingburg orchestra, directed by Mr. Wilkins, of the Wilkins & Long Music Store, played beautifully throughout the evening. The class processional was particularly effective and was followed by the invocation by Rev. C. L. Thomas.

The Senior girls rendered a very pretty quintet, Miss Lora Pummell, class poetess, displayed no small talent in a rhythmic poem, of beautiful sentiment, and Theodore Smith, class lawyer, presented an extreme ly clever and witty class will, which brought forth laughter and applause.

Assistant State Superintendent J. H. Cook delivered a fine class address.

With well chosen words of commendation High school principal Thacker, presented diplomas to Lois Thomas, Doris Andrews, Lora Pummell, Fern Groff, Pauline Haines, Earl Sheley, Earl Hicks, David Thomas, Theodore Smith, Will Lee.

Late Thursday evening the big Westcott seven passenger touring car owned by Earl Powell, agent in this city, was almost entirely destroyed by fire while the car was standing by the roadside on the Snow Hill pike, near the Rattlesnake bridge.

Mr. Powell and others were fishing at the time, and had been away from the car about 30 minutes when they noticed flames and dense smoke arising from the machine. They rushed to the auto but were forced back by the intense heat, which had melted a hole in the gasoline tank and was burning furiously.

In a short time the entire body of the car was consumed, and the gasoline, some eight gallons, continued to burn for more than three hours.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION CLOSES

The County Sunday School Convention held a most interesting closing session Thursday afternoon at the Church of Christ, with Rev. G. H. Harper leading devotions.

There were two fine addresses. H. C. Gridland, secretary of the Montgomery County Sunday School Association, Dayton, discussed "The Three R's."

Among many forceful epigrammatic statements he said that people read the professing Christian more than they read the life of Christ; that some who pray on their knees in church prey on their neighbors

the rest of the week; that a

Sunday school without a teachers' training class is committing slow suicide.

Rev. F. M. Swinehart, of Greenfield, treated of "Evangelism in the Sunday School," urging with power and eloquence that Christians do their part towards the evangelizing of the world. He offered many practical suggestions for successful work along this line.

Mrs. Mable Marchant, of Jamestown, added a beautiful cornet solo to the program.

HOW TO GET STRONG

A Simple Remedy.

Whatever the cause, we want to say to every person who needs strength, you need Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil, as it is the most efficient strength creator we have in our store. Here is proof from Dorchester, Mass.:

"I don't know what we would do without Vinol in our family. I was weak, nervous, and run-down as the result of an operation, and Vinol restored my strength. Then Grandmother had a nervous breakdown, and Vinol built her up and restored her health and strength after everything else had failed. We have used Vinol for 13 years in our family and would not be without it in the house." Myrtle L. Healy, Dorchester, Mass.

We believe in Vinol because we know it is a great strength creator—due to the extractive medicinal elements of fresh cod livers, without oil, combined with peptonate of iron and beef peptone, all dissolved in a pure medicinal wine, so we always return the purchase money if Vinol fails to benefit those who buy it. PRESIDENT APPROVES THE PLAN

Tentative Agreement Drawn Up at Border Conference.

NOW PUT UP TO CARRANZA

Wilson Feels That the Pact Framed by Generals Scott and Obregon Will Provide a Basis For Co-operation and Strengthen Cordial Relations of the Two Republics—Withdrawal of Troops From Mexico Not Covered.

Washington, May 5.—President Wilson entirely approves the tentative agreement drawn up at El Paso.

Major General Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff of the American army, was instructed by Secretary of War Baker to notify General Alvaro Obregon, Carranza's minister of war, of this fact.

President Wilson issued a statement in which he said the agreement evidences cordial co-operation between the two governments in their common purpose. He added: "In general I may say that it provides a basis of co-operation which promises to prevent misunderstanding and strengthens the cordial relations of the two republics."

Pending the receipt of formal information that Carranza has accepted the agreement, its terms will not be made public here.

It is assumed by officials that as soon as General Scott receives his instructions and learns that Obregon has heard from Carranza he will arrange for a final conference for the exchange of ratifications. It is understood that following these exchanges Secretary of State Lansing will prepare a formal note to the Carranza government in reply to Foreign Minister Aguilar's suggestion that the two government treat for a withdrawal of the American expedition. This note will state that inasmuch as the military conferences on the border have resulted in a mutual understanding looking to co-operation between the forces of the two governments it would seem unnecessary at this time to undertake any diplomatic arrangements.

Officials of the administration expressed entire satisfaction with the terms of the Scott-Obregon agreement. At his conference with the president Secretary Baker submitted the full detailed report received from General Scott. The president is said to have expressed himself as thoroughly satisfied.

At the White House it was declared emphatically that the agreement does not provide for a withdrawal movement of the troops at this time, and imposes no time limit on the presence of the expedition in Mexico. The whole purpose aimed at, it was stated, is complete co-operation between the forces of the two governments in the final suppression of the bandits.

One of the concessions made by Obregon, it was said, includes permission for the use of the Mexican railroads in provisioning the American forces.

NOT PEACEFUL

(By American Press)

Washington, May 5.—Conferees on the army reorganization bill disagreed on important features of the measure and adjourned until matters in disagreement can be taken up in the house. The rocks on which the committee broke were the federal volunteer army and the $15,000,000 government nitrate plant amendments adopted by the senate.

Notwithstanding the disagreement, Senator Chamberlain, chairman of the senate conferees, said he had hopes that a good bill eventually would be worked out. If the president continues to insist on the nitrate plant provision, it was declared, another clash between the executive and the house would ensue.

AWFUL DROP

(By American Press)

New York, May 5.—De Lloyd Thompson, the spectacular aviator who recently "bombed" New York and Washington from the sky, and Harold W. Blakeley, instructor for the Sloane Aeroplane company, fell 600 feet from the air above the aviation field at Garden City, L. I. Both were so severely injured that they were taken to the Nassau County hospital, and the machine in which they were riding, a big Sloane military tractor biplane, owned by the New York national guard and used for training militia aviators, was badly smashed. Thompson's left leg above the ankle was fractured, and Blakeley, it is thought, may have internal injuries.

FOR UNION OF THE M.E. CHURCHES

Commission on Federation Submits Its Report.

Saratoga, N. Y., May 5.—Union of all the Methodist Episcopal churches in America is indorsed in a report submitted to the general conference by the commission on federation which was appointed in 1912 with a view of co-operating with the Methodist Episcopal church South and the Methodist Protestant church in bringing about Methodist unity. The report was referred to a special committee, which will report later with a definite recommendation.

A recommendation is made that a special commission on unification be appointed to serve during the next quadrennium, to consist of four bishops, eight ministers and thirteen laymen, and to be "fully authorized to conduct negotiations with the Methodist Episcopal church South and the Methodist Protestant church and with other Methodist or kindred bodies, if occasion should arise."

The principal plan for union submitted to the general conference is one recommended by the Southern Methodists, who suggested one general conference and three subordinate conferences, in the east, west and south.

Considerable difference of opinion exists over the place the colored members would have under the new plan. One proposition calls for a fourth subordinate conference with colored members, and another would separate them from the proposed combination entirely and place them in a conference by themselves, with only fraternal relations with the united body.

TURN 'IM LOOSE

New York, May 5.—Leaders of the cause of Irish independence in this city united in declaring that every effort will be made to bring about the release of James M. Sullivan, arrested in Dublin. They are convinced, they said, that he took no active part in the preparations for the recent revolt, and base their opinions on letters recently received from him. The state department, it was asserted, will be asked to intervene, because of Sullivan's American citizenship.

Jeremiah O'Leary, an intimate friend of Sullivan, declared he went to Ireland last June with his wife and small son merely to live with his father-in-law, Stephen O'Mara, a former mayor of Limerick. Sullivan was American minister to San Domingo under Secretary Bryan. He has been taken to London.

EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGE

(By American Press)

Washington, May 5.—It will cost the United States to climb back into second place among the naval powers of the world $791,441,207.

This is the estimate of the general board of the navy transmitted to the Republican members of the house naval affairs committee and considered by them as a basis for a proposal to enlarge the building program suggested by the administration.

The total of $791,441,207 includes the cost of building ships, the cost of the additional personnel required for one year and the cost of general stores and ammunition for one year. It is also included the cost of the latter two items to make up the shortages on ships now in commission and to equip the ships now building and authorized.

The general board estimates that the United States must have 16 capital ships at once, 6 dreadnaughts and 10 battle cruisers to exceed Germany's navy. In addition it must build 78 coast submarines, 9 fleet submarines, 80 destroyers and 21 scout cruisers. For aeronautics a lump sum of $7,000,000 is proposed. These estimates take into consideration the ships Germany has added to her navy since the outbreak of the war, so far as is known.

SHOOTS HIMSELF

(By American Press)

Philadelphia, May 5.—Warner R. Howell, sixty-five, foreign freight agent of the Pennsylvania railroad, shot himself at his home in Germantown. Ill health, coupled with worry and hard work over the freight tie-up around New York harbor, his friends say, unbalanced his mind.

EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGE

(By American Press)

Xenia, O., May 5.—The grand jury returned an indictment charging embezzlement against Earl F. Maxwell, ex-clerk in the office of Prosecuting Attorney F. L. Johnson. He is charged with misappropriating $100.

SYNOPSIS.

Little Helen Holmes, daughter of General Holmes, railroad man, is rescued from imminent danger on a scenic railroad by George Storm, a newsboy. Grown to young womanhood, Helen saves Storm, now a fireman, and Robert Seagruer, promoter from a threatened collision. Safe-breakers employed by Seagruer steal General Holmes' survey plans of the coal line for the Tidewater, only to be caught and escape. Her father's estate was badly involved by his death, Helen goes to work on the Tidewater. Helen recovers the survey plans from Seagruer, and though they are taken from her, finds an accidentally made proof of the survey blueprint. Storm is employed by Rhinelander, Spike, before Helen, in his turn saves her and the right-of-way contracts with Seagruer kidnaps her. Helen and Helen win for Rhinelander a race against Seagruer for right-of-way. Helen, Storm and Rhinelander rescue Spike from Seagruer's men. Spike steals records to protect Rhinelander, and Storm and Helen save Spike from death in the burning courthouse. Vain in Superstition mine pinches out. Seagruer sells it and sells it to Rhinelander. The vein is relocated.

A wordy discussion followed. But Helen and Spike were started for the station, where more developments had already taken place. The victim of the hold-up, in response to the sergeant's message, had arrived, and on having the suspects, Ward and Adams, paraded before him, was unable to identify Seagruer's retainers. In fact, he distinctly declared these were not the men that had eaten all his free lunch and robbed him.

The chief, refusing to be satisfied, continued to ask questions. His instinct concerning criminals seemed to tell him that this pair were crooks, and, if not answering to one charge, should justly be held to await another. While this was going on in the office of the chief, Helen and Spike were ushered, with the complaining watchman, into the booking room. Helen demanded the use of the telephone, and in spite of the serious charge lodged against her something in her bright eyes or her demeanor satisfied the sergeant she was no criminal, and he handed her the phone from his desk. She called Rhinelander up at Seagruer's rooms.

When the bell rang, Seagruer told Rhinelander to answer it, and from Helen at the station the latter learned of the plight she and Spike were in.

No explanation that Helen and Spike could make moved the desk sergeant in any degree. He had directed the officers to take the two to separate cells when a commotion was heard in the hallway and Rhinelander dashed into the room. In the twinkling of an eye the aspect of everything changed. In Rhinelander, the conscientious watchman recognized the president of his own safe deposit company, and when the great transportation magnate rushed up to Helen to extend his sympathy and nodded, as an old acquaintance, to Spike, the humble watch dog of the safe deposit vault gasped. He waited just a minute, and in an auspicious lull in the conversation between Rhinelander and Helen, Spike standing at attention, the watchman pushed into the group to ask whether he had made a mistake.

"No mistake at all," said Rhinelander heartily and reassuringly, and to the watchman's great relief. "You did exactly right. You didn't know these people. They had no business in there. But they were there not only to get my securities out of a box, but to get me out of a box!" The watchman stared. "So"—Rhinelander turned to the sergeant in explanation—"there's really nobody to blame, sergeant, except that your men and you have a box of cigars coming from somebody and it might as well be me as anybody else."

The sergeant scratched his head. "This is the queerest mix-up I ever struck," he muttered, perplexed.

At Rhinelander's suggestion he sent for the chief. The moment the latter appeared everything was made right.

Within his own room the chief had a knotted problem. He had been trying in every way to extract some damaging admission from Ward and Adams, but unable to do so, had re-recently dismissed the pair, satisfied that if justice had her due the two would be behind the bars.

Just outside the police station, Helen and Rhinelander—Spike listening—were conferring as to what should be done in the awkward emergency facing them. How could they now save their property from Seagruer's eager clutches? They moved away together slowly, just as Ward and Adams, having got the real handbag from the sergeant, walked out of the station. The two men encountered the halting and perplexed trio. Rhinelander's roving eye fell on the bag as Ward passed him. He cried out and pointed. Ward and Adams turned nervously. "Stop thief!" yelled Rhinelander, making for them.

COLONIAL TONIGHT

The fickle ladies (bless them) are to find themselves set in more charitable light in today's Triangle offering, for in the course of the photo play's action there is set forth an instance of female constancy.

Seldom has the Triangle Film Co. produced a better dressed play than Featuring Norma Talmage, Seena Owen and Tully Marshall. Miss Marshall wears several expensive but simple costumes required by her part, and Miss Owens reveals a wardrobe in this one play that contains at least fifteen different changes of costumes.

Miss Owens wears three evening gowns, five afternoon dresses, two outing suits, four negligees, and one tailor made.

In conjunction will be seen a three reel Triangle comedy full of laughs, entitled:

LOCAL ELKS WILL JOURNEY TO BUCYRUS

Big Time Planned By the "Best People on Earth" for May 16 When Big Bunch Will Be Entertained and Shown New Home.

Trip to Be Made in Autos Through the Heart of Ohio, Returning Same Day.

Local Elks are perfecting plans for the biggest kind of a trip on May 16th, when the lodge expects to turn out en masse for an auto trip to Bucyrus, to inspect the new $60,000 club house just completed by Bucyrus Lodge B. P. O. E., and one of the handsomest and most perfect in arrangement of any club house in the state in a town of its size.

The local lodge has up the project of building a new club house—such a club house as the splendid standing of B. P. O. E. Lodge No. 129 entitles it to erect and is made absolutely necessary by the rapid growth and future prospects of the order.

The lodge now has a membership of 300; an active membership, including 140 new members taken in last winter, and as enthusiastic a bunch of Elks as were ever herded. That they will carry out their plans and that it is only a question of time until Washington C. H. can boast as beautiful a home as any of her peers, is a foregone conclusion.

Bucyrus is a town of about the same size as this city and the idea of visiting its Elks' Club House a particularly happy one.

A formal invitation has been extended by Bucyrus "Bills," who purpose "knocking off" and giving the entire day to the entertainment of the Washington Elks.

Jess W. Smith, District Deputy of the Grand Lodge of Elks for this section, dedicated the Bucyrus home last summer and appreciating the advantage that a visit will be to the local lodge, has lent his influence in promoting plans for the trip.

It will be a ninety mile auto trip, north through London, Marysville, Marion to Bucyrus, and the party will be accompanied by a trouble car and mechanics to guard against any possibility of mishaps. It will be a great auto trip aside from its other features.

Auto owning members are warmly enthusiastic over the trip and there will be plenty of cars provided and every Elk who can possibly go will be on the way to Bucyrus at 7 a. m. Tuesday morning, May the 16th.

They expect to reach Bucyrus at 11:00 a. m., when they will be entertained at the club house by Bucyrus Elks and taken for a tour of inspection. The Bucyrus Elks are now actively making arrangements for their visitors' entertainment.

The party leaves about 5 in the afternoon and reaches home that night.

A special committee has been appointed to perfect arrangements, present pennants, badges and whatever will add to the success of the trip. The committee is composed of C. H. Griffis, C. A. Gossard, A. W. Duff, R. R. Kibler, Damon Baker, Robert Shriner of Mt. Sterling, Mr. Timmons, of New Holland and Robert Rodgers of Good Hope.

If every thing moves off as scheduled, and those in touch with the "up and down" spirit of the Elks, have little doubt that it will, the trip will be one of the most memorable occasions in the annals of B. P. O. E. No. 129, and its possibilities for a good time and insight into how other Elks are doing things great.

Miss Alice Brown, of this city, is one of the graduates who will receive her diploma at the commencement of the State school for the deaf in Columbus, which takes place June 8th.
